YOBS TARGET JESUS STATUE

Hands cut off for second time in bizarre vandal attacks at church

Report by Danielle Thompson

WORSHIPPERS have been left appalled and horrified after a statue of Jesus outside a West Lancashire church was desecrated for a second time.

The Champion was contacted by a concerned member of the congregation after the statue outside Our Lady Help Of Christians Catholic Church in Hesketh Lane, Tarleton was attacked and vandalised.

This was the second occasion that the statue had been targeted and, bizarrely, on both occasions, the vandals cut the hands off.

And the second attack happened just days after the statue had been repaired at a cost of hundreds of pounds.

A spokesperson for the Archdiocese of Liverpool revealed the church will now be installing new security measures to tackle the vandalism.

The worshipper, who did not want to be named, told the Champion: "The statue was vandalised and the hands were cut off. New ones were ordered to return the statue to how it should look. But, just days after the new hands were fitted, it was vandalised again.

"It is absolutely appalling what has happened and I really hope that the vandal or vandals are caught to stop it happening again."

Lancashire Constabulary told the Champion: "We were contacted in late October about vandalism at the church.

"We were told the statue has been vandalised a number of times in the past and we have advised church members to report any further incidents."

Malicious

The Archdiocese of Liverpool spokesperson added: "Persistent and malicious damage to the statue of the Sacred Heart outside Our Lady, Help of Christians church is a matter of great regret and ongoing concern.

"In light of these events new security measures are to be implemented to attempt to apprehend the perpetrators."

Anyone with information is asked to contact police on 101.

County waste charge has led to fly–tipping rise, says councillor

By Henry James

A WEST Lancs councillor says fly–tipping on council–owned land has increased by almost 20% since Lancashire County Council introduced a new waste disposal charge for inert waste in July.

Figures showing 298 fly–tips were removed in the three months from July to September this year compared with 251 in the same period last year, were released following a question put by Derby ward councillor Adrian Owens at the recent council meeting on behalf of a concerned resident.

The Country Land and Business Association have also recently reported increases in fly–tipping on private land in the region.

However, West Lancs Council has said it is too early to say if the increases are due to the new charge brought in by the county council.

From June of this year residents who want to dispose of construction and demolition waste at the county's household waste recycling centres have needed to apply for a permit or face being charged.

Councillor Owens said: "Once again, this shows a lack of co–ordination between the two councils. While Lancashire County Council may be patting themselves on the back and counting extra income from their new waste disposal charge, the borough council and private landowners are having to deal with the clean–up costs of fly–tipping.

"Often, introducing charges such as these have unintended consequences. Residents frequently say to me that waste collection and disposal is a core service that they think should be funded through council tax."

A spokeswoman for West Lancs Council responded: "The figure given for the number of fly–tips attended by the council relates to fly–tipped debris that is on the public highway, not just on borough council–owned land.

"The figures are for all kinds of material that is fly–tipped – inert waste and other types of material. It is too early to assume this is because of the new charge brought in by the county council.

"Improving the local environment is a priority for the borough council. The council pursues individuals who do not dispose of their waste responsibly and our environmental enforcement officers will take action against any individual, if it is proven that they have fly–tipped waste.

"Problems with fly–tipping can be reported 24 hours a day on our website www.westlancs.gov.uk/flytipping or from 8.30am to 5.30pm Monday to Friday by calling customer services on 01695 577177."

Steve Scott, head of waste management at Lancashire County Council, said: "There's no reason why people would need to fly–tip as a result of our policy and more than 15,000 people have applied for and received permits allowing them to dispose of a quarter of a tonne of construction and demolition waste each year without charge.

"The county council has no statutory obligation to provide a service for people to dispose of waste such as soil, rubble and plasterboard and this policy has been introduced to reduce the estimated £750,000 annual cost of dealing with it."

Charity's plea for helpers

STAFF at the Salvation Army charity shop in Aughton Street, Ormskirk are seeking extra volunteers in the run–up to Christmas.

Area manager, Ann Penny, said: "There's no time like Christmas to help out at a Salvation Army shop. It's one of the best times of year, but also one of the busiest.

"That's why we're appealing for a band of Sally Army Helpers who can donate as much time as they can to our Ormskirk shop during the festive period. Volunteers often don't realise how valuable they are – a couple of hours or even a few days a week make a huge difference to us.

"Anybody interested in being one of our Sally Army helpers can simply pop in to talk to our friendly staff. There are lots of tasks to get involved from sorting through donations to creating window displays.

"If you can spare any time at all, please do get in touch."

Hospital to trial project aimed at reducing preventable child deaths

Report by Danielle Thompson

ORMSKIRK Hospital has been selected to take part in a £500,000 project aimed at reducing preventable child deaths.

The Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust is one of eight trusts chosen to join the flagship quality improvement programme Situation Awareness for Everyone (SAFE), which aims to reduce preventable death and error occurring in paediatric departments throughout the UK.

The hospital will trial new care techniques, including the 'huddle' – a frank exchange of information between clinical and non–clinical professionals involved in a patient's care – in a bid to encourage information sharing and to equip professionals with the skills to spot when a child's condition is deteriorating as well as prevent missed diagnoses.

The two–year programme is now in its third phase after testing at 20 hospitals in England.

Funded as part of the Health Foundation's Closing the Gap in Patient Safety programme, with additional support from WellChild and health science partnership, UCLPartners, the programme aims to:

• Reduce avoidable error and harm to acutely sick children by 2016.

• Improve communication between all healthcare professionals involved in a child's care, as well as families, to ensure treatment is of a consistently high standard regardless of postcode.

• Close the disparity in health outcomes for children in UK versus other countries, as well as between children's care and adult care.

• Involve parents, children and young people more in their children's care.

Ormskirk Hospital

Dr Sharryn Gardner, consultant in paediatric emergency medicine at Southport & Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, said: "With current estimates suggesting that in the UK we have around 2,000 potentially avoidable deaths each year, there is a clear need to reduce avoidable error in childhood care and so we are delighted to be welcoming this project to our hospital.

"By using methods such as the huddle, communication between our doctors, nurses, ward staff and therapists will improve and ensure that issues will be raised before becoming a risk.

"The programme has already proved to be a success in its first phase and we are greatly looking forward to working with the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health to help implement these techniques."

Dr Peter Lachman, clinical lead for SAFE, added: "We hope that through the success of this programme at Southport & Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust we will be able to roll it out wider so it not only improves the care of children, but improves the care delivered to adults in the UK and beyond."

New traveller sites under discussion

A PUBLIC consultation on proposed new traveller sites for West Lancashire will NOT now include a single site at Skelmersdale on the M58 corridor.

Instead, residents will be given the chance to have their say on three proposed pitches at land at Sugar Stubbs Lane, North Meols; Pool Hey Caravan Park, Pool Hey Lane, Scarisbrick; and land west of The Quays, Burscough.

Members of West Lancs Council's cabinet were due to discuss the proposals last night (Tuesday, November 10) and if approved there will be an eight–week consultation period from Thursday, December 3 to Friday, January 29 2016.

WI celebrate special birthday

NINETY years old and still going strong...

That's the proud achievement of Aughton Women's Institute and 48 of the 54–strong membership gathered at the Briars Hall Hotel in Lathom to celebrate the milestone with a meal and a special cake in the shape of their headquarters, The Hut on Town Green Lane.

Current president, Marilyn Porter gave a speech and cut the cake.

Member, Lynn Davis said: "It was lovely to celebrate the 90th birthday of the branch and the 100th centenary of the Women's Institute as a whole. We had a wonderful meal and we are thoroughly enjoying being one of the oldest branches."

The group meets every third Tuesday evening at 7.30pm. For more information or to join visit www.thewi.org.uk.

Lord Pendry, president of the Football Foundation and West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper present the cheque to Burscough Dynamo FC chairman, Simon Kenyon surrounded by club officials and players

Grant is grounds for club celebration!

BUDDING soccer stars at Burscough Dynamo FC can look forward to playing their matches on new, improved pitches after being awarded £98,048 from the Premier League & The FA Facilities Fund.

The current pitches at their Abbey Lane home are in a state of poor repair with postponements commonplace during wet weather.

But the new surfaces will mean that games and training sessions can continue throughout the year without the risk of waterlogging leading to training or matches being cancelled.

The club, already a focal point for the local sporting community, are aiming to develop more routes into the game for prospective players, including increasing their mini soccer section, provision for girls and ladies, as well as open–age football. It is hoped the upgraded facilities will also help to attract more volunteers and coaches.

Officials at Burscough Dynamo worked in partnership with Liverpool County FA to secure the grant while Sport England's Protecting Playing Fields also contributed £65,000 towards the £275,048 development and the club received a further £112,000 from West Lancs Council.

Local community groups will be able to hire the facilities for sport and leisure activities.

West Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper, who presented the cheque along with Lord Pendry, president of the Football Foundation, said: "This funding will significantly improve Burscough Dynamo FC's playing surfaces and help avoid waterlogging and fixture cancellations. I look forward to seeing the pitches once they are completed and wish the club and West Lancs Council all the best for the future."

Lord Pendry commented: "The club have worked extremely hard alongside West Lancs Council and Liverpool County FA, and I look forward to seeing Burscough go from strength to strength as a result of this grant."

Simon Kenyon, chairman of Burscough Dynamo, said: "Thanks to the Football Foundation, through the Premier League & The FA Facilities Fund, Sport England and West Lancs Council, the club will now have a base to call home after many years playing at various venues across West Lancashire.

"We aim to continue working in the community to provide football for people of all ages. We are always looking for more people to join our club in various capacities and would encourage more people to become involved in coaching our many teams.

"In conjunction with the council we will also try and develop other sports and the facility will be available for the community to hire."

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, the councils portfolio holder for leisure, added: "We are delighted to have reached an agreement with Burscough Dynamo FC for them to take over the lease. We all look forward to seeing Abbey Lane thrive again and give them and other community clubs a base they can call home."

Dan prepares for take off!

CHAMPION readers can win a fabulous family holiday to Mallorca in a free–to–enter online prize draw, courtesy of JetsGo Holidays.

Full details on how to enter the competition for this fantastic prize, worth £1,250, can be found in this week's Champion – all you have to do to be in with a chance of winning is go to the Champion website and follow the draw instructions.

His company will take off from Manchester Airport next spring using a leased A320 aircraft, with 180 seats, from Small Planet Airlines.

It will have a brand new cabin interior with new seats for next summer, as well as the new 'AirFi' system, which is an aircraft Wifi system that lets people log on via their phones and tablets to view films, TV and read articles.

To celebrate the launch of JetsGo Holidays from Manchester, Daniel is offering Champion readers a £25 voucher off holidays to Majorca by using the promo code CHAMPION, valid until the end of November.

Borough remembers the fallen . . .

Hundreds join Remembrance Sunday tributes

WEST Lancashire paid tribute to those who have suffered or lost their lives serving their country at Remembrance Sunday parades and services.

Hundreds of members of the public turned out to pay their respects to the fallen of all conflicts at ceremonies held across the borough, including Lathom, Burscough, Ormskirk and Aughton.

Veterans, civic dignitaries and representatives including members of the armed forces, the police, scouts and cadets, laid poppy wreaths at war memorials.

The Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Nikki Hennessy, attended services in Ormskirk and Burscough.

Cllr. Hennessy said: "Remembrance Sunday is a very important day when we come together to honour brave men and women who have died in the service of their country.

"West Lancashire is very proud of its links with the armed forces and large numbers attend the parades every year. We gather with pride to pay our respects to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice."

When the going gets tough Mark gets going . . .

Report by Danielle Thompson

A SOLDIER who was injured in Afghanistan is set to take on one of the world's most gruelling endurance challenges for the third time.

Sergeant Mark Holloway, 29, who lives in Burscough, will take part in the World's Toughest Mudder, a 24–hour endurance obstacle course race which starts on Saturday (November 14).

Competitors strive to complete as many laps as possible of the five–mile long obstacle course in the heat of the Nevada desert in the USA.

Mark is aiming to complete 16 laps – around 80 miles in total – which he hopes will secure him a place in the world's top 10 as well as being the No.1 Briton.

He is also aiming to raise £2,000 for forces charity, Help for Heroes.

Mark was injured by an improvised explosive device (IED) while serving with the 2nd Battalion The Rifles in December 2011 and feared at one point that he may have to have his arm amputated.

His recovery was aided by a specialist rehabilitation centre in Surrey which is sponsored by Help for Heroes as part of the charity's support for thousands of brave members of the Armed Forces and their families.

Since his rehabilitation, Mark has undertaken a number of fundraising efforts – including the 2013 and 2014 World's Toughest Mudder challenges – raising more than £10,000 for Help for Heroes.

He has spent the last year in training for this year's event, running, cycling and swimming, as well being put through his paces with gruelling sessions at the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst. He can now run 45 miles in under nine hours.

Mark said: "This year's event will no doubt be harder than previous years but I am well prepared. I'm also lucky enough to have two supporters who will help me with hot food and drinks and with clothing and gear changes.

Sergeant Mark Holloway on a previous challenge

"Last year I didn't have that support but placed 29th out of 1,200 and managed to complete 13 laps (65 miles) of the super–charged course.

"This time I'm targeting another three laps to take me up to 80 miles.

"I want to get into the top 10 in the world and be No. 1 in the UK and i also want to raise another £2,000 in sponsorship for Help for Heroes.

"It's not how fast you can go, it's how long you can last."

• To sponsor Mark go to www.justgiving.com/WTM or text MTTM99 plus the amount you want to donate to 70070.

Public praised for 'sensible' celebrations

THE number of reported incidents of anti social behaviour in West Lancashire over Mischief Night and Halloween was almost identical to last year, according to figures released by the police.

A total of 50 incidents were recorded in Ormskirk and Skelmersdale, as opposed to 49 during the same period in 2014.

Police made two arrests and 10 Section 35 dispersal orders were used to move on youths who were making a nuisance of themselves.

With a planned police operation in place to cover identified 'hot spots', officers were able to deal with incidents quickly.

Meanwhile, on Bonfire Night just eight incidents of ASB were reported to police, as opposed to 22 incidents last year.

A police spokesman said: "We would like to thank the general public of Skelmersdale and Ormskirk for enjoying the Halloween and Bonfire Night celebrations in a sensible manner and working with us to make the nights enjoyable for all."

Police week of action aimed at raising awareness of child sexual exploitation

LANCASHIRE Constabulary have launched a week of activity aimed at continuing to raise awareness of how to tackle child sexual exploitation – with a focus on the increasing number of victims targeted online.

Officers will work in conjunction with partners from local councils, trading standards, schools, leisure centres, hotels, the NHS and children's charities to focus on prevention, awareness, enforcement and engagement with communities.

During the week, there will be visits to schools, children's centres, libraries, children's homes and takeaways.

There will also be training for doctors and nurses at GP surgeries and hospitals on the signs of child sexual exploitation.

Between April 2014 and March 2015, Lancashire Constabulary received more than 1,500 child sexual exploitation referrals and 529 crimes related to CSE were recorded.

In addition, the online child abuse investigation team dealt with 237 potential instances of downloading of indecent images of children or online grooming. Since April this year there has been a significant increase with 339 instances dealt with to date.

Detective Inspector Tony Baxter from Lancashire Constabulary's public protection unit, said: "The public quite rightly expects us to protect children from being exploited, particularly as new threats emerge such as online grooming through gaming and chat forums, an area that we are highlighting through this year's awareness week.

"We would encourage anyone who has been, or knows someone who has been, sexually abused, groomed or exploited to come forward and contact police confident in the knowledge they will be dealt with sensitively and professionally."

If you are concerned about a young person you know, call Lancashire Constabulary on 101. In an emergency, always dial 999.

Fight to save court goes on

By Danielle Thompson

ROSIE Cooper has met with representatives from Her Majesty's Courts and Tribunals Service to make clear her continued opposition to the proposal to close Ormskirk Magistrates' Court.

The West Lancs MP has submitted formal objections to the proposal to Courts Minister, Shailesh Vara, as well as opposing plans for the merger of local justice areas into a single justice area for Lancashire.

When the proposed closure was announced in July Ms Cooper immediately signalled her opposition to the move saying that it would weaken the delivery of local justice in West Lancashire.

Following her meeting with HM Courts and Tribunals Service, she said: "I firmly believe that HM Courts and Tribunals Service, aided and abetted by Whitehall officials at the Ministry of Justice, have a long–standing determination to see Ormskirk Magistrates' Court close – a closure which saves money and is simpler for those running the courts but not for the benefit or in the interests of the residents who need to access local courts.

"Let's not forget that nine years ago we successfully fought off attempts to close the court. Now with the government slashing budgets an opportunity has presented itself to finally close Ormskirk Magistrates' Courts.

"For these proposals to be reliant on investment in new technology, requiring it to always work when needed, as well as relying on public transport running to time, if at all, tells me this proposal is based on theory with no experience of this area, geographically or its lack of transport facilities and infrastructure.

"I have challenged the HM Courts and Tribunals Service to make the journey using public transport from the West Lancashire boundary through to Preston for an early–morning appointment.

"I am also concerned and outraged that we are completely scrapping the principle of local justice.

"We face an uphill challenge but I will continue to fight in opposing these plans as neither those in Preston or London care about what this means for West Lancashire."

Baby boom at care home!

IS there something in the water?

That's the question being posed at a care home in Ormskirk after SIX members of staff announced pregnancies at around the same time!

The 'Stocks Six', as they've been labelled, were showered with gifts, flowers and personalised babygrows as they celebrated together with residents and staff from the home in Nursery Avenue at a special get–together to mark the start of their maternity leave.

Five of the six – Geraldine Ball, Emma Fairclough, Steph Shinner, Jackie Whyment and Amelia Mullen – attended the send–off.

However, care assistant Beth Paice was unable to make it due to a prior engagement – looking after premature but perfectly healthy baby boy, Christopher!

Residents' dismay over HMO approval

Report by Danielle Thompson

LOCAL residents have expressed their dismay at West Lancs Council's decision to approve an application for a house of multiple occupation (HMO) in Church Hill Road, Ormskirk.

Members of the Church Hill Road Residents Association say that the approval of the application, despite what they described as "overwhelming opposition and petitioning", questions the vailidity of the planning process.

And they are warning other residents in the town that it seems their views will "count for nothing" where HMOs are concerned.

Association spokesperson, Paul Rainbird, commented: "Whilst not objecting to students living here, our community does feel strongly that poorly–managed and maintained student accommodation is leading to environmental decline which is directly affecting them and distorting the housing market.

"Without a change in policy, we can only envisage a worsening situation and further decline across the town, so local politicians must ensure residents' views are heard loud and clear by West Lancs Council who, in turn, must act to prevent decline and hold to account those who refuse to act responsibly."

The residents' petition sent to the council highlighted a number of issues, including concerns regarding traffic congestion, lack of parking and the poor management and repair of other houses in the area of Halsall Lane which are known to be student lets.

A spokesman for West Lancs Council commented: "The council received objections from local residents on various grounds which were given full consideration in assessment of the application.

"One of the major concerns related to the impact of the development on parking on Church Hill Road. The application was amended to include the provision of three on–site parking spaces. The Highway Authority were consulted and considered the level of parking proposed to be acceptable and that the development would not be harmful to highway conditions in the local area.

"The application was considered against policies in the council's Local Plan, including a limit on the proportion of HMOs which will be allowed in various parts of Ormskirk and Aughton. From the information available to the council there are currently no properties on Church Hill Road occupied as HMOs.

"As the conversion of the property in question would not result in the limits set out in the Local Plan from being exceeded, the application complied with the council's planning policies."

Traffic congestion and lack of parking were among the concerns raised by residents objecting to the Church Hill Road HMO application

Champion LETTERS to the Editor

CHAMPION NEWSPAPERS
Clare House, 166 Lord Street, Southport, PR9 0QA
Telephone 01704 392 400
editor@champnews.com

Golfers are right to have concerns about so–called improvements to course

I HAVE every sympathy with the members of Beacon Park Golf Club and their concerns at the course redevelopment reported in the Champion.

Golfers have every right to be annoyed at having to cross the unsightly 'temporary' brick, concrete and stone waste access road and watch these materials being dumped whenever they play.

The 'borough council spokesman' who thinks that the new nine–hole course approved by the planning committee in 2011 is being built should go and have a look! The mounds are so steep the balls will roll off and the height is both intrusive and visible from Beacon Lane above the hedge

The tipping of rubble, broken brick, concrete and stone on the driving range is also a stupid idea. Why is 35,000 cubic metres of rubble needed to create a few target greens?

The imminent start of this phase of the so–called improvements will not improve facilities but will be a profitable surface landfill presented as golf course improvement. Surface landfill of rubbish is not permitted by the county council. As a concerned local resident I call on the West Lancashire Borough Council and its partner Serco Leisure to stop this nonsense immediately.

I, and many others, walk to the Beacon Country Park from Skelmersdale along the pedestrian–only section of Elmers Green Lane that runs beneath Stannanought Road up to the golf clubhouse. Wagons will frequently cross this long–established lane, leaving mud and creating danger by their presence and exhaust fumes for pedestrians and cyclists.

Does the council intend that we should all stop taking exercise and drive via Up Holland or Dalton when we take children and grandchildren to the excellent play equipment in the country park? Or does it simply wish to reduce usage of both the golf course and country park so they can be sold off?

David Cheetham, Skelmersdale

Skelmersdale can't be a town without amenities

COULD I take this chance to put some of my thoughts to the people who run Skelmersdale?

First, I would like them to stop calling it a New Town. To me a town should have amenities that the people can use and places such as a hospital, railway station, decent bus service, large shops and cemetery.

When my family came here 40 years ago we were promised all of these things and we are still waiting.

When are the people who run the council going to get off their backsides and do something? Every once in a while they say such a thing is going to be done and it never is. Aren't they ashamed of it all? I mean, 40 years to get something done, are they so smug in their jobs that they don't have to bother?

Also, there is talk of two cinemas getting built in Skelmersdale. Why do we need two picture houses?

Every other place has got all the things that I've mentioned, so why can't we? Is it going to take another 40 years before anything is done?

So, come on you people who run the council, stop arguing among yourselves and thinking up excuses you keep giving us, and saying things that will never happen, get something done for this overspill area of Liverpool.

Until you get us amenities, Skelmersdale can never be called a New Town.

David Carter, Skelmersdale

Thrilled about our new wind turbine

ALL I seem to hear about is residents hating the new wind turbine in Skelmersdale – but I absolutely love it. The kids will never be lost again!

I know that I am in the minority here but I love having such an unusual new landmark that marks out Skelmersdale so prominently. I might be the only one but I am thrilled!

Skelmersdale resident (name and address supplied)

Letter was unfair to hard–working Rosie

THE letter by Jim Givens (Champion, October 21) about Rosie Cooper was grossly unfair.

She doesn't sit in her office, she gets out amongst her constitutents, which is why she is photographed doing the job she is paid to do.

I've lived in various parts of the country and haven't known an MP as conscientious as Rosie – long may she reign!

Mary Morris, Burscough

Ormskirk was a thriving market town long before Edge Hill became a university

IN response to D. A.'s letter (Champion, October 28) I would suggest that Ormskirk residents are equally tired by Edge Hill's claims that its students bring a huge boost to the local economy.

How exactly? Students use the supermarkets and a few of the shops, but this is negligible compared to residents shopping for entire families.

The rest goes to bars and restaurants, not necessarily owned by local people, and it is difficult to see how this benefits Ormskirk.

Their rented houses are owned by out–of–town landlords who would have the whole town centre converted to a student campus if they could, while attractive streets are blighted by the sight of shabbily–kept student properties who pay no council tax.

Edge Hill does employ a number of local people but not as many as Ormskirk Hospital does.

D. A. remarks that 'Ormskirk is evolving into a place the people should be proud to say the university is sited in.' Well, not really. Edge Hill is hardly a Russell Group university.

I assume D. A. is a newcomer or is employed at Edge Hill. Ormskirk dates back to the 1100s and has a Royal Charter from 1286 – it has been evolving for some time.

When Edge Hill was a teacher training college Ormskirk was a thriving market town with locally–owned shops and businesses and the town centre was a desirable place to live. As Edge Hill has continued to expand properties nearby have likely been devalued and residents' right to a peaceful existence spoiled.

I'm sure that the majority of Edge Hill's students behave well but it can't be denied that a number do not. I accept this is not entirely the responsibility of the university but they can't keep claiming that Ormskirk is better for their expanding presence.

D. A.'s comment that if people now do not like living here they should move is audacious and asinine. Edge Hill is no doubt here to stay but it does not own Ormskirk and residents are entitled to uphold what they have bought into, in what they paid for their houses and the life they expected to live in a small market town.

Mrs P. A., Lathom resident

Where else would this 'shambles' be allowed?

SO, one of West Lancs Council's joint managing directors has agreed to accept redundancy/early retirement with a pay–off of £90k plus a pension of £50k a year.

It is four years since Bill Taylor retired with a pay–off of £240k after 14 years service. West Lancs then promoted two lady managing directors, Gil Rowe, council solicitor and Kim Webber, stating this was the cheaper option – buy one get one free!

And here we go again, after four years of council shambles, they have got it all wrong, so let's start again, with just one. Another cheaper option. Where else would this be allowed?

We have the St Modwen Town Centre conflicting with the Concourse proposals and the council committing £2million to St Modwen. Council spending is profligate as if nothing matters.

There is the White Moss debacle, Walkers Crisp Turbine installed by stealth, the Beacon golf course fiasco, Ormskirk Hospital with four directors suspended, all very secret.

Also the Sandy Lane Centre car parking kerfuffle costing £60k without a result.

Oh, and lastly there is going to be a new pub near Asda. All is not lost.

Students are turning wood into a car park claims pensioner

By Danielle Thompson

A PENSIONER claims students at Edge Hill University are making it difficult for residents to use a local recreation area by treating it as an unofficial car park and lecture theatre!

Peter Reeves, from Moor Street, Ormskirk, likes to walk his dog in Ruff Wood but says that students often leave their cars parked in the woods or hold lectures there making it difficult for him to use the area.

The 72–year–old said: "I have had cancer and recently had a heart attack and, like many other people of my age group, I like to use Ruff Wood to take my dog for a walk, as well as taking gentle exercise for myself.

"However, due to irresponsible parking by students – who simply abandon their cars in and around the woods – there are often no parking facilities left for the elderly.

"Also, the tranquility of this natural asset is regularly ruined by groups of students holding lectures within the woods. From time to time they even tape off access to areas they are working in.

Ruff Wood

"Edge Hill's total disregard for the requirements of local residents and how they deal with complaints made to them is simply outrageous.

Rights

"Every time their students step off the campus it's the local taxpayers that have provided and paid for all the facilities that they all enjoy."

A spokesperson for Edge Hill told the Champion: "Whilst the university takes all substantive complaints seriously, we believe that all members of our local community, young and old, have equal rights to access public open space.

"Edge Hill also makes a significant contribution to the local economy, both directly and through the 3,270 local residents who depend on the university for at least part of their annual earnings and who, alongside all of our fee–paying students, contribute substantially to the tax base."

College under fire for axing A Level department

West Lancashire College

By Henry James

WEST Lancashire College's decision to close down its A Level department from next year has come under fire.

The college announced the controversial move earlier in the year saying it was "due to changes in funding across the FE sector and a need to realign our staffing and provision to meet local need."

But the move has been met with anger locally with claims that the college is failing the youth of Skelmersdale.

A Champion reader, who asked to remain anonymous, wrote: "The decision to close down the A Level department at West Lancashire College was made by a group in Newcastle who have no interests in the people of Skelmersdale. They do not remotely care for the youth within the catchment area.

"The people who have made this decision only care about maximising their results by introducing new courses which don't require the same academic ability and are not regarded in the same light by future employers and universities. In my opinion this is simply unacceptable."

The reader claimed that many locals who wanted to do A levels this year had been refused the opportunity by the college's decision and added: "Skelmersdale has only just got back its A Level department, surely they haven't given it enough of a chance to succeed, or fail for that matter. The fact is that the courses haven't been around long enough for a truly informed decision to be made.

"The 'feel' around the college is that they are only doing the A2s this year because if they didn't there would be outrage and the college would have bad press."

A spokesperson for West Lancashire College said: "We took the decision to phase out A Level provision fully by 2016 due to falling numbers of 16 to 18–year–olds in West Lancashire, significant changes to the examination structure and competition from other local providers, all of which have had an impact on the numbers of students wishing to study A Levels at the college.

"We remain committed to the success of our current A Level learners who will continue their studies with us. All those who applied to study A Levels from September have been offered individual support, including help with applying for alternative provision at the college or assistance in securing a place with other local A Level providers. We have worked closely with other schools and colleges in the area and so far everyone who has asked for support has received offers on alternative courses."

Burscough bakery scoops prestigious award

A SPECIALIST bakery in Burscough has scooped a top prize in a prestigious competition.

Julie and David Peeks, who run Artisan Foodworks at Merlin Park on Ringtail Road, supplying cafés, tea shops, delis, farm shops, restaurants and hotels across the North West, won silver for their fruit teacakes at the World Bread Awards held at Cathedral Hall, Westminster.

The couple, who have a combined 60 years' experience in the food industry, were delighted by their success in the awards which featured more than 1,000 breads and 70 judges!

Julie said: "We are thrilled that the judges awarded us silver especially against such notable competition."

New website for heritage group

A NEW website is being launched for Lathom Park Trust.

The trust promotes the historical and archaeological significance of Lathom Park, which is believed to date back to at least the early 13th–century.

The new site, lathomparktrust.org.uk, has replaced the former site (which will become inactive in December) and aims to keep members of the public fully informed about their work.

They have also launched a page on social media site Facebook (search for Lathom Park Trust).

Trust chairman, Paul Kenyon said: "We hope that people will bear with us as parts of the new site are still under construction. The new site will be more dynamic and informative."

Young divers' brush with hurricane!

By Danielle Thompson

YOUNG divers from a West Lancs club narrowly avoided being caught up in a hurricane during a trip to Mexico to undertake specialist training.

The 11–stong–party from Diving4Fun, all aged between seven and 16, were en route to the training camp in Guadalajara on Friday, October 23 when their flights were grounded in the USA for 24 hours after it was feared their journey would take them into the path of Hurricane Patricia.

The divers and their families were forced to stop off in Atlanta, Georgia and in Houston and Dallas in Texas.

After delays of between 15 and 24 hours they were finally re–directed to Mexico.

Hurricane Patricia, a 200mph tropical storm, orginated in the Gulf of Tehuantepec on Tuesday, October 20, moving across to Cuixmala near Jalisco on October 23 before dissipating the following day.

After a tense wait, the young divers flew on to Code Jalisco, which offers Olympic–standard training facilities and world–class training alongside Olympic medallists and world champion divers.

Aim of the camp was to provide Diving4Fun squad with first–hand experience of how elite divers physically and mentally prepare for competitions, while also learning new skills from athletes who execute the most complex dives in the world.

They enjoyed twice–daily training, including sessions with Ivan Garcia and German Sanchez, who are preparing for the 2016 Rio Olympics.

During their stay, the club's head coach, Carlos Ferra, was interviewed on national TV channel, Azteca Deporte Caliente Jal.

Carlos said: "We would like to thank Code Jalisco for allowing us to train at their facilities. The venue is truly world–class and as they don't usually allow clubs access to their facilities it was a real honour to be welcomed.

"Our young divers have received a once–in–a–lifetime experience and I am extremely proud of the hard work and commitment they have shown."

• The club is keen to recruit new members. As well as weekly training sessions at Nye Bevan swimming pool in Skelmersdale, there is also trampoline training at Glenburn Sports College. For more information, email diving@bd4f or visit www.bd4f.co.uk.

They're having a ball in aid of school funds!

A GLITTERING winter ball is being held to raise funds for St Anne's Catholic Primary School in Ormskirk.

The Parent–Teacher Association (PTA) at the school in Aughton Road are hosting their black–tie Gold and Glitz Winter Ball at the Ramada Hotel in Southport on Friday, November 13 from 7pm to 12.30am.

The PTA was set up two years ago by parents, Claudine Bolster, Claire Jones, Cheryl Singleton and Barry Coy to raise money for new school resources.

Since then they have raised around £18,000 which has helped to provide laptops and iPads for the school.

The ball will feature a three–course dinner, entertainment by live band, The Undecided who, as well as being talented musicians, are also doctors at Ormskirk Hospital, plus DJ.

And there will be an auction with prizes including holidays to Mallorca and Seville provided by the sponsors Barcelo Hotels and Resorts, weekends at Hilton Hotels in the UK and Europe, jewellery and signed Liverpool and Everton FC items.

For more details call the school on 01695 574697 or ring 07944 444 692.

Academic slams police budget cuts formula

AN academic consulted by Lancashire police chiefs has criticised the proposed funding formula used by the government to calculate cuts to forces' budgets as "inadequate".

Under the proposals Lancashire Constabulary could face huge cuts by 2020 on top of the £74 million savings they have already made.

The force is expected to be one of the worst hit in the government's funding review this month, with an extra 13% of cuts (£24.8million), while the comprehensive spending review is expected to wipe another 25 to 40% (£41m to £64m) off the budgets in a double–whammy of cuts.

Lancashire's police and crime commissioner Clive Grunshaw asked leading academic, Dr Les Humphreys, to evaluate the Police Funding Formula.

The quantitative criminology lecturer said that the formula lacks robustness, is too narrow and does not adequately consider demand for police services.

He says that it is based on just four variables and that there is "no theoretical or empirical evidence to say they are the best indicators" to predict crime demand in a force area.

Mr Grunshaw and chief constable, Steve Finnigan, have questioned the cuts as the force currently costs less per head of population than most other forces and has never been over–funded.

Dr Humphreys said: "The Home Office should subject the proposals to a peer review as I am sure there would be some questions about the methodology used."

He added that in his opinion alarm bells should have been ringing when the new formula was seen to so adversely affect one force and not their most similar group as all should be affected in the same way if the variables used were robust.

He claims that of 25 quantitative variables that could have been used to calculate police demand, there was no statistical or theoretical evidence to justify why the four chosen were used.

And he added: "If the Home Office is trying to create an evidence–based policy it is not clear what the evidence is they have used. The statistical procedures used are not adequate and there is nothing to suggest the variables they have chosen are good indicators or not. The way the process has been undertaken is problematic and there is no evidence this is a good model."

Dr Humphreys' report was submitted to the Home Office as part of the force's response to the funding review consultation which closed on Friday, November 6.

Prize time for borough design award winners

WINNERS in the 2015 West Lancashire Design Awards were presented with their prizes at a ceremony (above) attended by the mayor, Councillor Nikki Hennessy.

The awards acknowledge and promote the importance of good–quality development and building design in the borough.

The Court Leet pub in Wheatsheaf Walk, Ormskirk won the renovation/conversion category, while judges also gave a commendation to the conversion of Smithy Nook Barn, Drummersdale Lane, Scarisbrick, which involved turning a barn into a home.

Winner of the commercial category was the Creative Edge development at Edge Hill University, and there were commendations for the West Lancashire Youth Zone, Skelmersdale; the IVF Clinic, Wrightington; Booths' store, Burscough; and the Salt and Liquor Bar, Derby Street, Ormskirk.

The Residential Award was won by Narrow Lane Farm, Aughton with the extension at Quarry Farm, Pinfold Lane, Scarisbrick earning a commendation.

Narrow Lane Farm also won the sustainability 'green' category award.

The Landscaping category award went to Coronation Court in County Road, Ormskirk, a retirement living development by McCarthy and Stone. And the remodelling of a landscaping bed in Victoria Park, Ormskirk was commended.

Special remembrance service for road traffic victims

VICTIMS of road traffic collisions will be remembered at a service in Lancashire on Sunday (November 15).

The World Day of Remembrance Service is one of thousands being held globally to support families and friends of road traffic victims and honour the work of the emergency services.

Anyone who has been affected by loss or injury following a road traffic collision is invited to attend the service hosted by the chairman of Lancashire County Council, Margaret Brindle, who will be joined by representatives from the police, fire and ambulance services. The multi–faith service starts at 11.30am in the chapel in Christ Church Precinct, County Hall, Fishergate, Preston.

For details of how to attend email safertravelteam @lancashire.gov.uk or call 01772 537960.

Over–40s urged to take up free health checks

County Councillor Margaret Brindle having an NHS health check

GET checked out! That's the message to over–40s from the chairman of Lancashire County Council, Margaret Brindle.

County Councillor Brindle is encouraging West Lancs residents aged 40–74 to take up a free health screening at their local GP surgery to help lower the risk of developing heart disease, stroke, kidney disease, type 2 diabetes and some types of dementia.

Since April more than 21,000 people have already had a free NHS health check in Lancashire.

If any underlying symptoms are diagnosed, advice and support will be given to help you lower the risk of developing a disabling – but preventable – vascular disease.

Research shows that health checks could save as many as 650 lives each year in England.

The 'Stay healthy for the ones you love' campaign encourages those who don't want a free health check to do it for the ones they love.

Advice

Cllr. Brindle said: "The NHS Health Check provides a real opportunity for people to take control of their own health and it is encouraging to see so many people in Lancashire actively engaging in this.

"I had a health check recently and it only took 20 minutes. The health check looks at your lifestyle, weight, family medical history, cholesterol levels and blood pressure.

"If the health professional picks up on any factors which could lead to health problems, you'll be given advice and support to help you lower your risk meaning you're more likely to enjoy a healthier life for longer."

For more information or to book a health check visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/health.

Sugar tax idea leaves a sour taste

I REALLY have no reason to worry at all!

Nothing these days is my fault.

Whatever I may do, or not do, is the fault of someone or something quite outside my control.

Mind you, nobody is ever expected to be responsible for their actions these days – so I guess someone else must be. Oh hell – perhaps it could be me.

Complicated stuff this thinking lark.

What's brought this on is this latest ripping wheeze to prevent us from all getting fat – particularly our children who, naturally, we are not really responsible for at all.

A sugar tax. Now why didn't we think of this before – perhaps at the same time as the tobacco taxes?

I suppose this means that even removing tempting displays of sweets from supermarket checkouts has failed to prevent our offspring from demanding such from their parents – who have long since apparently dropped the word 'NO' from their lexicon.

It probably would infringe the human rights of their chubby little chaps and chapesses.

But this time the pill has been sugared by the idea that the extra money raised through the Sugar Tax will all go to improving the NHS.

Oh – was that a pig I just spotted flying over the roof tops?

If only we could all revert to being as responsible for our own actions – and their consequences – as we seem to be for those of everybody else, then I reckon this world would be a far simpler and nicer place.

Anyway, if paying over the odds for my occasional chocolate bar is really going to reduce the level of childhood obesity and all the health risks that brings in its wake, then hopefully in the future the NHS won't need as much extra cash anyway.

Why everybody these days appears to 'need help' to stop doing awful things to themselves, or start doing healthy ones, totally defeats me.

I am certainly no paragon, nor do I think my willpower is any greater than the norm.

But many years ago, just to save me money, I did pack in smoking. For all of a year.

Then I decided to re–start, for no better reason than I remembered that I used to enjoy it. And that any cash I saved I had spent on alcoholic drink.

Which made me very poorly and led to the only time in my life that I have been a patient in hospital.

My consultant (who looked and sounded just like Sir Lancelot Spratt of Carry On Doctor fame) told me that if I didn't cut the drinking down – a lot – I would be dead in months rather than years. Which is a sobering thought.

So I said I simply would give up consuming alcoholic liquor, and despite the scepticism of doctors, family and friends, I did.

And apart from a few liquor chocolates around Christmas, I have had but one alcoholic beverage in the last 30–odd years. That one was a bottle of lager (and I never did like lager) that an elderly gentleman I was interviewing had saved specially for me – and I simply didn't want to disappoint him.

It's simple really. If you want to stay sober, don't drink. If you want to stay trim, cut down on what you eat, try walking to the shops – and buy a dog

Starling spectacle at Mere!

Starlings at Martin Mere. Pic by David Fyles

A LARGE starling roost can be seen at Martin Mere for the first time since 2009.

Staff at the Burscough wetland centre believe there are approximately 15,000 starlings at the reserve.

The birds disperse during the day but return from 4pm onwards with a 10–minute spectacle, creating shapes in the sky as they prepare to roost for the evening.

In 2009, up to 25,000 starlings used the reserve.

Centre manager, Nick Brooks, said: "We can expect numbers of these starlings to rise as we get closer to Christmas so we should see an amazing starling display.

"Everyone loves to see the birds as they create shapes in the sky and it's great to see them finally return to the centre as our reedbed has become more and more established. This display should not be missed."

The best views of the birds display is from the Harrier hide from 4pm onwards.

Starlings spend a lot of the year in flocks. They are smaller than blackbirds, with a short tail, pointed head, triangular wings. They appear black from a distance but when seen closer they are glossy with a sheen of purples and greens.

Meanwhile, more than 200 Whooper swans are now using Martin Mere and daily swan feeds have started for visitors to get up close at 3pm from the swan link hide and 3.30pm from Raines Observatory.

Hundreds more are expected to arrive at the mere over the next few weeks in time for the North West Bird Watching Festival on Saturday and Sunday, November 21 and 22.

Bridge repair works to continue over weekends

WORK will continue over the next two weekends to repair Tarleton Bank Hall Bridge, which carries the main A59 Liverpool Road over the River Douglas, following recent damage from vehicles.

The most recent damage happened in September when the south side of the bridge was struck by a vehicle, resulting in stonework which forms the parapet wall being dislodged.

Repairs are also taking place to damage on the north side of the bridge caused by previous incidents.

There will be a lane–closure in place with two–way traffic controlled by temporary lights while the repairs take place, but engineers will be working during evenings and overnight to minimise disruption and complete the job as quickly as possible, while keeping the bridge open during the busiest part of the day.

Work to repair the stonework started last weekend and will continue from 7pm to 6am Friday to Sunday, November 13–15 and Friday to Sunday, November 20–22.

Diabetes on the rise warning

SPECIALIST diabetes nurse, Vanessa Elliott, was guest speaker at the latest meeting of the West Lancs and Southport Breathe Easy group.

She explained that while 3.3 million people in the UK are currently diagnosed with diabetes, it is estimated that another 590,000 people have the condition but don't know!

And she warned that incidence of the condition is set to rise to about five million by the year 2025.

Labelling it as very much a disease of the 'Western' world, Vanessa explained the links between glucose, the pancreas and the production of insulin and the differences between type 1 and type 2 diabetes.

She went on to describe the many symptoms which may arise and the risk factors for developing type 2 diabetes including increasing age, carrying too much weight (particularly round the waist area) and poor activity levels.

Vanessa said that about 80% of cases of type 2 diabetes can be prevented by healthy eating, limiting alcohol intake, being active and maintaining a healthy weight.

Healthy eating should include having regular, perhaps smaller amounts and spreading food intake throughout the day if possible, to avoid huge evening meals which can be tough on the pancreas.

Vanessa continued her presentation with a lively, inter–active session looking at fat intake – for women this should not exceed

Vanessa Elliott addresses the Breathe Easy group

14 teaspoons per day and for men 19 – and she showed the group typical meals, starting with a cooked English breakfast and invited them to guess the number of teaspoons of fat.

Finally, Vanessa took the audience through the four cornerstones of diabetes management – diet, exercise, medication and knowledge – and informed them about the work of the Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals NHS Trust Diabetes Team, who provide structured group education sessions for patients with diabetes.

The next meeting of the group will be their annual general meeting and buffet to be held at the Guide HQ, Green Lane, Ormskirk on Monday, November 16, starting at 11.30 am.

Members, new members and visitors are welcome.

Lions launch Christmas toy appeal

IT'S that time of year again when the Ormskirk Lions participate in the Radio Merseyside Christmas Toy Appeal.

This year, more than ever in this time of austerity, they need the help of the public to make a child's Christmas, by donating an unwrapped new toy to their collection drop–off point at Boots in Ormskirk from Monday, November 23.

The Lions will collect and distribute to children in need this Christmas.

If you live outside the Ormskirk area you can drop your toy donation off at a Greggs store in your locality.

Advice bureau chief's warning over changes to disability benefits

THE chief executive of Lancashire West Citizens Advice is warning people that the changes to the disability benefits system could lead to some people losing benefits.

Diane Gradwell is concerned some people don't know the pitfalls they face if they fail to accept an invitation to apply for Personal Independence Payment (PIP). More than 1,000 people in the borough could be affected by the changes.

She said: "For years Disability Living Allowance (DLA) has been one of the main benefits for people of working age who needed help and support. However, some time ago Government decided to replace DLA with Personal Independence Payment or PIP and decided that all existing recipients of DLA aged 16 to 64 will at some point get a letter inviting them to apply for PIP.

"However some of those DLA recipients might not realise that they have to respond to the invitation to apply for PIP even if they have been granted DLA lifetime awards. Also, for many filling in complex forms is both a worry and a time consuming exercise.

"The problem is made worse because if they do not apply when asked to, and their DLA ceases, they will lose any of a number of benefits linked to DLA such as continued access to a Motability vehicle.

"We would therefore like to stress that anyone receiving an invitation to apply for PIP must do so, whatever their current arrangement over DLA.

"Anyone wanting advice and assistance with dealing with the invitation to apply for PIP can call us on 03442451294. Many have already done so and we are able to help through the appeal process if they have been turned down.

MP's call for agreement on action to avert flood threat

Report by Danielle Thompson

Fears of 'devastating' consequences in wake of pumping station closures

ROSIE Cooper fears local farmers will be left at the mercy of the weather and facing the threat of "devastating" floods unless urgent action is taken over the creation of an Alt–Crossens Internal Drainage Board.

The West Lancs MP is calling for an agreement on the principles of a new drainage body, if not the funding, following the Environment Agency's announcement that five satellite pumping stations serving the Alt–Crossens catchment area will be turned off in two years' time.

The pumping stations at Banks Marsh, Boundary Brook, Clay Brow, Kew and Rufford Causeway will cease operating in September 2017.

Ms Cooper claims finance for the new body is proving to be a stumbling block with the government refusing to treat West Lancashire the same as other areas where internal drainage boards already exist. Those areas receive a special levy grant from central government to help cover running costs.

West Lancs Council have previously voted against committing funding for an internal drainage board based on estimated projections of a £350,000 council contribution.

The MP is now calling on all interested parties to break the deadlock and explore the principles of an agreement to set–up an internal drainage board putting the funding issues to one side for now.

She said: "The clock is now ticking and the threat of turning off the pumping stations is not idle chat or an unforeseen threat. As I have said previously, doing nothing is an option. In 2012 we had an insight as to the devastating effects flooding has on people's homes and the loss of food crops grown on farmers across West Lancashire.

"I understand the reluctance of any of the parties that will eventually fund this body to commit to a blank cheque when it comes to the running costs for an internal drainage board. The exact costs of operating such a board can only be resolved by all parties discussing the options.

"However, failure to address the future drainage and water management arrangements, will mean that in two years' time when those pumps are turned off, agricultural land in the Alt Crossens area is at the mercy of the weather.

"We can't have food–producing land waterlogged again. This is why I am encouraging all parties to get round the table and come to an agreement on some principles for a solution and leave the funding issue to one side for the moment."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Manager Paul Kane feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton, Bootle, Formby, Ormskirk and Skelmersdale areas & Paul is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Paul a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Quality Commission give care trust 'requires improvement' rating

ROOM for improvement.

That was the Care Quality Commission (CQC) verdict on Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust following their first inspection under the new arrangements which took place in April this year.

This was the first time that the CQC has inspected an organisation of this size and scale under the new regime and it was not logistically possible for the inspection team to visit all of the trust's services. The CQC spent a week at the trust and saw approximately 30% of its services and spoke to around 300 people.

The trust was given a rating of 'requires improvement', which means that some aspects of its services are not performing as well as they should be and the CQC has set out those areas that must be improved.

A number of the issues highlighted have already been addressed and some immediate remedial action has taken place to ensure that the services provided are safe and of a high quality.

Out of the 16 inspection reports that were compiled about the trust's services, half received a rating of good across all domains – including Ormskirk Hospital's adult supported living based at Bickerstaffe House.

Mental health crisis services and health–based places of safety were rated outstanding for the effectiveness of the care they provide.

Heather Tierney–Moore, chief executive at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, said: "We are taking the inspection process and the feedback extremely seriously and we welcome the opportunity to learn and improve. We were realistic about the fact that there are challenges in some parts of the organisation and issues that need to be resolved and thought that it was important to be open with the CQC about that from the onset.

"The trust has used this first major inspection under the new format as a learning opportunity and in some respects, the outcome is helpful in that it will provide a clear focus for us to make the necessary improvements, with the support from our commissioners."

And Dee Roach, director of nursing, added: "I think it's really important to highlight the fact that the trust received an overall rating of good for providing services that are caring and responsive, which suggests that we have a solid foundation to build upon."

All 16 of the reports and the trust's action plan are available on the website www.lancashirecare.nhs.uk

A hassle-free move with Wainhomes!

If you're looking for your dream family home look no further than Wainhomes' superb Hillcrest development, located in the sought after village of Upholland, near Wigan.

Offering a collection of stunning 4 bedroom luxury family homes this exclusive development is in a prime position, within close proximity of major commuter routes, making Manchester and Liverpool very accessible. Upholland is situated on a small hill, rising above the West Lancashire Coastal Plain, offering stunning views of the High Peak of Derbyshire as well as Liverpool and Southport.

Boasting contemporary style with a timeless quality and attention to detail, this development offers a unique opportunity to purchase your dream home. Each house is built to the highest specification, with quality craftsmanship integrated into each aspect of the build. Modern building regulations ensure that every new homeowner at Hillcrest will benefit from high energy efficiency standards throughout the property.

Sharon Wood, Regional Sales Director for Wainhomes North West, commented "Hillcrest offers homeowners a combination of contemporary living in a stunning rural location yet is close to local amenities and the motorway network. Careful consideration has been given to the design of these homes to compliment the excellent locality.

"We can offer home buyers a number of incentives to buy their dream home at Hillcrest, including our popular Part Exchange scheme for those who have an existing property to sell. This will give you an opportunity to move to your new home stress free, with a guaranteed price on your existing property, meaning no estate agents fees and no chain to worry about.

"We also have available the Government backed Help to Buy scheme, which is designed to make purchasing properties affordable for everyone especially those looking to get on the housing ladder for the first time. With just a 5% deposit required, there has never been a better chance to invest in a new home at Hillcrest."

Rare Egyptian film being screened

PARBOLD Picture House is hosting Horus Egyptology Society, Wigan, for a special event on Saturday, November 28, from 2pm. to 6pm, which includes a screening of the restored 1969 Egyptian feature film: The Night Of Counting The Years. The film was described by Martin Scorsese, the film director, as "rightfully acknowledged as one of the greatest Egyptian historical films ever made."

Professor Joann Fletcher of York University, now the voice and face of the BBC's Ancient Egyptian documentaries, will introduce the historical background and talk about The People of Kurna, the clan featured in the film. It is based on the true story of the discovery in 1881 of the large cache of royal mummies in the hills bordering the Valley of the Kings. A local clan had plundered the tombs for decades, relying on selling treasures on the black–market to sustain the tribe in hard times, but the authorities are determined to stop this trade.

It has been extremely difficult to see this film since the 1970s because the prints had deteriorated.

The film had many admirers including the great British film–maker, Michael Powell.

The dialogue in classical Arabic is subtitled and the unsettling score by the great Italian composer Mario Nascimbene contributes to a feeling of fate and inevitability.

Salam, the director, wanted Egyptians to be no longer ignorant of their history and the story asks a massive question: "Must we plunder our heritage, even what was sacred, in order to sustain our present and the future? What is our debt to the past?"

Dr. Michael Bonsall of Parbold Picture House and Horus had been searching for nearly four years to track down the film, and found it had been recently restored to its original splendour by Martin Scorsese's Film Foundation's World Cinema Project at Cineteca di Bologna /L'Immagine Ritrovata laboratory. This was in association with the Egyptian Film Center, with restoration funded by Armani, Cartier, Qatar Airways, Qatar Museum Authority and the Egyptian Ministry of Culture.

Professor Joann Fletcher is shown with Tutankhamun's mask

Horus Egyptology Society, with a membership of over 140, probably the largest such group in the UK, is a non–profit making organisation formed to bring alive the world of Ancient Egypt.

The afternoon is a fund–raiser for the Memnon Colossi Restoration Project, Luxor, and supported by Horus for many years. The colossi are of the Pharaoh Amenhotep III. Beyond them stretches a massive temple, first destroyed by earthquake, then covered by Nile silt. Work began in 2000 under a joint German/Egyptian programme led by the pre–eminent archaeologist Dr Hourig Sourouzian to explore and restore the site to a semblance of its former glory. Further funding will see the magnificent mortuary temple come to life once more.

People are being advised to book in advance. All seats unreserved. Doors open at 1.30 p.m.

For further information or to purchase tickets contact: John Johnson on 01942 716557.

Win tickets for swashbuckling opera at the Liverpool Empire

FOLLOWING its five–star premiere in 2013, English National Ballet's production of Le Corsaire returns with performances at the Liverpool Empire from Wednesday 18 – Saturday, November 21 and The Champion has five pairs of tickets to giveaway to the show.

Winner of the Robert Robson Award for Dance at the Manchester Theatre Awards, Le Corsaire follows the escapades of Conrad, a pirate, who journeys across high seas to save his harem girl, Medora.

It is a swashbuckling fantasy tale of captive maidens and cutthroats, love and betrayal, deception and conspiracy, culminating in one of the most breath–taking spectacles in ballet.

The first UK company to perform the complete work, English National Ballet's production features sets and costumes by Hollywood film designer Bob Ringwood, whose film credits include Batman, Alien 3, and Troy, and a sweeping, romantic score performed live by the English National Ballet Philharmonic.

Le Corsaire at the Liverpool Empire sees debuts from Katja Khaniukova in the role of Gulnare, and Cesar Corrales in the role of Birbanto.

Le Corsaire also offers audiences the chance to see guest artists Osiel Gouneo, Principal with Norwegian Ballet, and Brooklyn Mack, Principal with Washington Ballet, perform with English National Ballet for the first time.

PRAYER

HOLY SPIRIT

You, who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You, who gave the Divine Gift to forgive and forget all that is done to me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and affirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in their perpetual glory. To that end, and submitting to God's Holy Will, I ask You (mention your request).

This prayer must be said for three consecutive days. After the third day the request will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish the entire dialogue as a condition of having your request granted.

T.J

PRAYER

DEAR SACRED HEART OF JESUS

In the past I have asked for many favours.
This time I ask for one special favour. (mention it)

Take it dear heart of Jesus and place it within your own broken heart where your Father sees it. Then in his merciful eyes it will become your favour, not mine.

Amen

Say this prayer for three days, promise publication and your favour will be granted. Never to be failed.

BIRTHDAY MEMORIAMS

MOON John Stuart

15th November

I wish that I could see you John,
For just a little while,
I wish that I could hug you and
see your lovely smile,
But wishing gets me nowhere,
And longing is in vain,
So I will hold you in my heart,
Until we meet again.

Loved and remembered always, especially on your Birthday

BIRTHDAY MEMORIAMS

MOON John Stuart

15th November

We miss his smile,
his kindly ways,
With him we spent some happy days,
We'll miss him when we need a friend,
On him we could always depend,
If only he was here today,
Then this to him we could say,
God bless you, on your Birthday.

Thinking of you always

PUBLIC NOTICES

THE LANCASHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL
(BIRCH GREEN ROAD, SKELMERSDALE, WEST LANCASHIRE BOROUGH)
(TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF THROUGH TRAFFIC) ORDER 2015

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Lancashire County Council have made an Order under Section 14(1) (a) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, as amended, the effect of which will be to temporarily prohibit any motor vehicle from proceeding over that length of Birch Green Road, Skelmersdale from its junction with A577 Houghtons Road to its junction with Forest Drive, in the Borough of West Lancashire.

An alternative route for vehicular traffic affected by the closure is via:-

A577 Houghtons Road – Northway – Birch Green Road and vice versa.

The temporary prohibition is necessary to allow utility works to be carried out.

The prohibition will be operative from 0800 hours on Saturday 7th November 2015 until 1700 hours on Sunday 8th November 2015, or until completion of the works within this period.

Authority given for this Order to be made:

Laura Padden, Highway Regulation and Inspection Manager

Genesis is the start of a very tricky car test

Is a luxury Hyundai much like a glorified wax coat for all the Countryfile viewers?

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

JUST the other day I spent rather too long looking longingly at wax jackets in a swanky shop in the Lake District.

Normally I have about as much interest in clothes as Laurence Llewelyn–Bowen does in launch control systems and the McLaren 650S but I have a soft spot for wax jackets. Specifically Barbour wax jackets – it just goes with the Range Rover–driving, real ale–swigging, fell walking lifestyle I've been brought up with. Which is why I was weighing up whether to throw £250 at what is basically a glorified coat for Countryfile viewers.

The car world has been onto this mawkish obsession with brands and lifestyle – and it knows people like me will happily fork out extra for something because it's made by Land Rover or BMW rather than Skoda or Dacia.

It's also why the market for big – but mass–market – cars has pretty much evaporated in the UK. The likes of the Vauxhall Omega and Peugeot 607 have quietly slipped off to the mortal coil while BMW, Mercedes, Jaguar and (increasingly over the last 15 years) Audi have lapped up the managing director money. So it was perhaps inevitable I declared back in February the chances of anyone buying a £48,000 Hyundai was virtually non–existent.

But it turns out Hyundai knew this all along – which is why it's pulling off a trick Toyota managed 20 years ago. A Lexus LS600h is basically what happens when Asda makes its own wax jacket – you might sneer at Asda's offering, but you might just be tempted by a George one if it's cheap enough.

That's why you can now buy a DS (quietly made by Citroën), an Infiniti (a Nissan in all but name), a Vignale (a rejigged, upmarket Mondeo) and if we're being cruel, an Audi (the emissions scandal has reminded us how that Ingolstadt's upmarket offerings are laced with cut–price Volkswagen meat).

Hyundai's plan is to serve up six luxury models completely bereft of the H–word – they will all be sold here as Genesis (ideally with Phil Collins–branded drum brakes). A luxury Hyundai would flop spectacularly, but a luxury Genesis might just do a Lexus and pull it off.

You'll need £47,995 to take part in Hyundai's biggest experiment yet, although chances are – given my shopping habits at the moment – I'll probably spend roughly the same on wax jackets and real ale.

David Simister is features editor of Classic Car Weekly

Vauxhall launch discount scheme

VAUXHALL has launched its own scrappage scheme that gives buyers who give up their old car a £2000 discount. If you're thinking of taking up the discount, your old car can be from any manufacturer and there's no age limit but you must have proof you've owned the vehicle for at least 90 days.

Heptathlete inspires pupils

SPORTY youngsters at a West Lancashire school enjoyed a motivational talk by a medal–winning athlete as part of a project aimed at inspiring children to be active and healthy.

Heptathlete Jess Taylor, who won the bronze medal at last year's Commonwealth Games in Glasgow, was invited to Tarleton Community Primary as part of the Sports for Schools initiative.

The 27–year–old gave a demonstration and held a question–and–answer session before leading the children on sponsored fitness circuits with the money raised going towards new PE equipment for the school and to help support GB international athletes.

Year 6 pupil, Isabelle Roberts, said: "It was amazing to see a famous athlete at our school and to learn all about her experiences. And if she can do it so can I!"

Home comforts but tough tie on the cards as Skem bid for Trophy progress

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

FOLLOWING their against–the–odds FA Trophy triumph last week, Skelmersdale United are rewarded with a home game on Saturday when Lincoln United will make a first visit to the town for a 3pm kick–off.

Like Skem, Lincoln United won through to this stage thanks to a midweek replay last week, when after a 1–1 draw at Stafford Rangers they again drew 1–1 at their Ashby Avenue ground, before succeeding via penalties, the winner coming from goalkeeper Sam Vince.

Skelmersdale manager Tommy Lawson will naturally be hoping to avoid the fate suffered by Division One South leaders Stafford. However, it won't be easy as Lincoln have only lost two of their seven away league games this season.

Reportedly they play quite an uncompromising style.

Among the players to watch will be centre–forward Paul Grimes, who scored for Grantham the last time he played at Stormy Corner, whilst in midfield they have Chris Hall, an experienced player who starred for Burton Albion in their famous 2005/06 FA Cup run, that culminated in two games against Manchester United after they had beaten Burscough in round two.

Tommy Lawson has been busy this week preparing for the FA Trophy match and one of his tasks has been to sign a new striker. Osebi Abadaki is a man who can play as an out–and–out forward but does a fine job on the wing too. He is very quick and played against Skelmersdale earlier in the season for Buxton.

Abadaki might not be the only addition to the Skelmersdale ranks this week but at the time of going to press we cannot confirm whether another move has been fruitful.

Skem were scheduled to have had a game last night (Tuesday) at home to Northwich Victoria in the Dootson Sports Cup – weather permitting.

But there is no scheduled midweek game next week unless they draw on Saturday, which will necessitate a long trip to Lincoln for a replay next Tuesday.

Skem's next home league fixture is against Evo–Stik Premier Division leaders Blyth Spartans on Saturday, November 21 in what promises to be a good game.

Lawson's men come out fighting to land replay KO

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Hyde United 0
Skelmersdale United 1

WHAT do you do when you lose three players immediately before an away FA Trophy replay due to matters out of your control, have to play a number of players out of position, are facing bang–in–form opponents who have their star striker back and nobody gives you a snowball in hell's chance?

Well, if you're Tommy Lawson's Skelmersdale United you take the game to your opposition, force them on the back foot, score, then prevent them from getting into any kind of playing rhythm and finish off by sending them home well beaten.

The complete scenario was a bit like a Rocky film – but without the violence.

Skem attacked from the off and in the 8th minute home goalkeeper Ed Wilczynski parried away Chris Almond's shot – the first of about five saves he made from the prodigious Almond before the interval.

Hyde made moves to attack and a couple of efforts by star striker Scott Spencer and another from Sam Fitton threatened, but Skem continued to press at the other end and in the 22nd minute they got a reward for their enterprise.

Phil Mooney galloped down the right and drove a cross into the goalmouth where Tom Ince looked its likely destination on the far post. However, in an effort to save the situation, Hyde No. 4 Joe Wilkinson put his head to the ball and it went into the net via the post.

Chris Almond – a constant threat to the Hyde defence

Almond had two more efforts saved by Wilczynski on 25 and 27 minutes, then Fitton went close for Hyde with a header from Ryan Ellison's cross.

In the 35th minute Mooney saw a shot go inches over the crossbar after he followed up on a chaotic situation in the Hyde area.

And two minutes before the interval Kenny Strickland went through but unselfishly laid the ball off for Almond when a shot at goal might have made it 2–0.

After the break, Mooney overlapped and saw his cross clip the top of the crossbar, but then Hyde started to press and the first quarter–hour of the half was always going to be crucial to the outcome of the game.

But the nearest to a leveller was a shot along the floor that was thwarted when Martin Fearon dived full–length to steer the ball around his post.

In the 61st minute Reece Gray waltz through two challenges before Fearon closed him down and got a vital touch to the ball. Gray got the rebound but Fearon saved again before finally pouncing on the loose ball to calm his teammates' panic.

The latter stages saw Hyde gradually run out of ideas as to how they were going to breach the Skem defence, while the visitors remained dangerous on the counter.

Ged Kinsella was just beaten to a through ball by Wilczynski, and then Hyde's Scott Spencer shot wide after Jordan Snodin set him up.

But the more it went on, the less likely it looked that Hyde would score and a spirited performance saw Skem deservedly through to play Lincoln United at Stormy Corner on November 14 in the next round.

Got an interesting story to tell?

Looking your Best

For many of us, this is the time of the year where we like to look our best and a Christmas jumper is simply not enough to keep us going!

However with budgets stretched to breaking point few of us can splash out on a new wardrobe. It may surprise you that a few rules of thumb may be enough to accommodate what you have into a sparkling new you.

Stay smart when casual. Casual does not mean you have to blend in with the crowds at large, especially at work. For the ladies, a tailored skirt or a detailed blouse can make all the difference.

Look in your closet and try to match what you normally wear at work with some of your better pieces.

An accessory can make all the difference and if you are supposed to go for a meal straight after work an oversized necklace can make all the difference.

You may also want to invest in your favourite perfume with an eau de parfum to match the eau de toilette you use. The parfum will be much stronger and a spray of it at night time will make all the difference.

If the evening is likely to end up with a tad of dancing, do not wear shoes that are too high!

For the lads, jeans and a good blazer teamed with a chambray cotton shirt is a great look.

Don't wear ripped jeans or loose hanging ones... keep it classical.

Timeless elegance. This is what you should aim for if you are invited to a smart do, like a cocktail party.

The, less is more, dictate is never more evident than with this kind of fashion as you will want to wear it again and again, maybe over a few seasons.

Accessories are everything and bold necklaces or bags can make a huge difference. People may remember a piece of jewellery or a scarf but if the dress is timelessly elegant you will get away with wearing it numerous times.

Avoid over detailed and wild colours especially. Above the knee hemline work well here but do not be tempted to go too high. Subtlety is your byword. Kitten heels should make this outfit perfect.

Guys should look out for well fitting trousers and a classic jacket. You can go a little wilder in your colour choice here because although formal, oddly enough for once, the man has more options than the lady.

The black tie do. If you are going to go for it then please do. This is the right occasion for the ladies.

Just wear something that suits your body shape.

If you are not as tall as you would like, heels are fine (remember you may have to stand on your feet for a while though) and curvy women should look at empire line styles.

If you shop in a local store, the assistant will give you some direction.

Tuxedos are still a great look for the men but you probably will get away with a dark suit as well.

A tie is an absolute must as are shiny shoes.

Home decorating

Decorating your home at Christmas is important as it will set the scene for up to a month (!) and it can be a daunting task. So what is the best way to go about it all?

The first thing to say is that there should be no trends in decorating at Christmas, modern or traditional it all works. If you are gifted you can mix both with success but if you prefer to keep things simple then decide on which way you are going and stick to it. If, for example, you decide to be traditional don't be tempted to add a few baubles that you like the look of but that are way too modern.

Most of us already have ample supplies of bits and bobs from Christmases past and few of us are lucky enough to have a budget to completely overhaul what we have. So bear in mind a few rules that will serve you well whatever your décor may be.

Baby, it's cold outside so keep warm and cosy. This is actually quite easy to achieve with a few cushions and rugs on beds and sofas.

There are plenty of choices available in shops and stores ranging from faux fur to velvet. Remember that Christmas for most people is a cosy time, so think on.

Scents and fragrance at home can make a difference too. From candles to essential oils, again the choice is amazing out there and can range from just a few pounds, to candles at £100 and more!

One consideration is to keep to the same fragrance throughout the house as too many scents can be confusing. If you should want to keep your home smelling festive here is a quick fix you can easily do yourself.

THE SCENT OF CHRISTMAS

In a small pan simply add an orange or tangerine quartered, a few cloves, a cinamon stick and two bay leaves. Add water and simmer. Your home will be beautifully scented almost straight away. Do take care to top up with water every so often!

For many, the main attraction has to be the tree. The best tip here is probably to try to stick to two colours rather than throw everything at it. If you don't think you have enough decorations to stick to such a plan, why not invest this year with lots of fairy lights. Choose a warm white glow and fill the tree with lights, making sure you push the lights inside the tree as well as decorate the tips of the branches.

As fairy lights are so inexpensive why not fill two or three large clear glass jars or vases with a set and keep these lit around the house. You will need plugs obviously but a few of these simple arrangements can transform a simple room into a festive delight!

And if you have large see through vases to spare fill those with baubles or pine cones as well to complement the look of Christmas throughout your home.

Match your dining table centrepiece with the rest of your home by adding a few touches here and there bringing the colours together. It can be a vase of baubles or even ribbons around your presents.

Because Christmas is always as much about atmosphere than anything else, these simple and effective tips will add to the glow of the season.

The very best Gift

This is by far one of the main preoccupations at Christmas. Will she like it? Will he wear it? Will they play with it?

The answer is to think about the person you are buying for and what they are like. What are their hobbies, what do they like to do?

There is no point in buying a recipe book for someone who never does any cooking... don't laugh! We have all received the odd gift or two when we think.. 'What is THAT?'

Keeping local often means you will come across ideas you would have never thought of and while online is an often liked solution for a lot of us, there is nothing like actually going to a shop or store and having a look.

So what is the best way of getting ahead.

Make a list. Names first and think of who they are in reality. Then, make another list of headers such as 'Fashion', 'Cooking', 'Cosmetics', etc. In each of those section slot a name that you know would be ideal for that kind of present and write a price that you cannot go over.

Then, one day at a time, do your Christmas shopping well ahead. A 'fashion' day will sort out all those in that section. One other tip is to draw out the cash your budget is allowing you to spend and stick to that, come hell or high water. Don't take any credit or debit cards with you and that way you know you can crack it!

Tilly's Bead Box

A huge display of SWAROVSKI ELEMENTS Beads, Pearls & Flat Back & Sew on Stones, Miyuki seeds & Delicas Czech beads, Silky's Tiles & SuperDuo's plus much more for making your own jewellery.

There is a large range of handmade jewellery for sale

Come and learn a new skill, make wonderful pieces of jewellery. Amaze friends and Family, gifts they will treasure because it was made by you especially for them.

We are 100 Yards from Maghull Train Station and bus interchange.

See you soon there is always a warm welcome.

The very best Gift

Always ask for a gift receipt so that the lucky recipient can change their gifts without knowing the value.

Obviously they will find out if they go into the store but if they like their presents they will be none the wiser. Around this time there are lots of bargains locally so look well and take your time.

Do not attempt to buy everything in one day, this is a true recipe for disaster and if all else fails vouchers are also a great idea.

Many of us receive far too many things at this time of year so it is nice to think that come 2016 there may be a nice extra treat or two to be had thanks to your kindness and generosity.

Buying gifts need not be so difficult and all it takes is a tiny bit of organisation on your part.

If you follow our tips it'll be a breeze and you will keep to your planned budget too!

Dinner is Ready

Yes and if you are in charge of it, by the time it gets to the table you'll be ready to go back to bed.
Peel tons of vegetables, make the gravy and bread sauce, cook the turkey and get everything ready on time....
Oh and where's the pud? What if we told you to just cook most of it ahead? Yes it can be done.

First thing is to empty the freezer as much as possible. You are going to need it. Then it is time to take it step by step:

GRAVY Just make it now. No really... Make a good gravy and add a splash of port or madeira if you have it, making it a little thicker than you would want.

Cool it and freeze it. On the day and after defrosting, reheat and add the turkey juices for perfect consistency.

BREAD SAUCE That can freeze well too but it does keep for a few days in the fridge anyway. It all depends on what you want to do but there is no need to worry about it in the day.

CRANBERRY SAUCE Pop a punnet of berries in a pan with a little water and sugar to taste. Cranberries need quite a bit of sugar so be aware. Bring to a simmer (the berries will pop) and cool down. Keeps a few days in the fridge as well.

STUFFING Don't buy it ready made. Make it now and freeze it in a disposable oven dish (the kind that comes with a lid). Defrost the day before and cook alongside the turkey on the day.

BRAISED RED CABBAGE This dish actually improves with time so make it a few days ahead and keep in the fridge.

SPROUTS Peel and blanch (plunge in hot water for a few minutes) and rinse straight away in cold water. Store in the fridge and on the day add to a hot pan with a good knob of butter and vacuum packed chestnuts.

POTATOES Peel and cut as you want and place them in a large bowl of water the night before. They won't go brown and will save you bags of time on the day

PARSNIPS Boil the day before and refrigerate.

If you do all of the above, you will still have to perform on the big day but at a much sharper speed. You may even have time for a glass or two of festive cheers!

SEASONAL TIPS

- Buy cheap mincemeat and decant the jar contents in a large bowl. Grate an orange, add a little mixed spice and a glug of brandy and mix well.
- If you make your own mince pies roll small balls of marzipan and pop in the middle of each pie's filling before baking. The marzipan will melt into the rich pastry and mincemeat mixture.
- Stocktake your cupboards. You may not need a third jar of mixed spice after all! But DO check the spices you want to use. If you have kept them too long they may have no scent or flavour left at all. Your nose will tell you!

Going Out

At this time of the year, days and nights can be busy with Christmas parties and get togethers. We are lucky to live in an area with many going out choices and this year, more than ever, the choice on offer is staggering.

The popular belief that going out at Christmas (and in December in general) is not a good idea as prices increase and standards of both food and service fall is simply no longer true.

The festive season has become much more than roast turkey, chipolatas and sprouts and the choices of available cuisine you can find on your own doorstep is truly astounding.

For a lot of people, going out at this time of year provides a welcome break from the endless hours of preparation and planning at home. Because there is no need to eat a 'Christmas dinner' everytime you go out, why not try for something a bit different?

If your better half is the one who does most of the Christmas chores organising a lovely evening or lunch out for him or her can make a real difference and provides the opportunity to have a little bit of time to yourselves at a time when generally, you have so many others to think of.

It will also show your partner how much you appreciate everything they do.

If you owe an invitation to a few people, why not have a few drink beforehand at your place and then go to a great restaurant afterwards as a Dutch treat.

This is the easiest of get together's and almost guaranteed to be a success, leaving all the cooking and washing up to someone else whilst you will have paid your dues by starting the part in your own home.

The festive season is always a great time to have a great time and nothing compares to a fantastic night out.

Whether you want unbridled fun or a sophisticated soiree, a feast from far away or traditional fayre, our local bars and restaurants will have something for you.

Plan your lunch, dinner or evening out now, surprise someone you love or make sure your party will be one of the best ones yet! By booking it now, you will have made the very first step into having the best festive season ever.

It is important however to remember a few rules of thumb and whilst most establishments will always try to look after their patrons - here are a few tips for you to be safe all this festive season.

Set a budget for yourself. Whilst you will know how much your meal will cost you (especially if prebooked), the cost of drinks can soon mount up. Do not underestimate what you will need because the last thing you will want to do is to draw more cash out only for you to realise the following day that your budget has been seriously dented.

You don't have to, you know! Being the responsible adults that we are, we all have a choice and one of those is not to drink the bars dry. Bearing in mind this is a season when opportunists sadly will be watching anyone that is easy prey, you will owe it to yourself to NOT feel pressured because Jack from work is on his eighteenth pint and you've only sunk two! Having a soft drink in between alcoholic beverages is also a good way of keeping things sensible and remembering to eat before stepping out is sensible as well.

Don't leave your drinks unattended. There has been lots written on this topic and suffice to say that whether it is a shot that a friend has dropped in your beer or worse, knowing that your drink is safe is also part of your responsibility towards yourself. Keep an eye out for your friends as well. If you have decided to go home together then stick to that.

Even with all the above ticked off, things can still go wrong as we all know so having some emergency pennies may not be a bad idea. The price of a taxi fare is something we should all have tucked away. Keep that away from your cash stash and only use it if you have to.

Fun is always about keeping safe and these few measures are about keeping your head about you and looking after those you love.

Entertaining

Okay, so in October after a few drinks you decided to organise a 'party' for a few friends during the festive season and now it is upon you.

You now think 'Yikes, what have I done!' Fear not. Follow these simple guidelines to have (and give) the very best of festive times!

Create the right mood by putting together a super playlist of songs both festive and pop favourites. Nothing like a good tune to liven things up. Lighting is important and you will want the right balance between a glow and enough light to highlight decorations and food! No need for the 'big light', use plenty of lamps and fairy lights in vases or bowls.

Get the drinks right. Don't rely on guests bringing a bottle unless you have asked them specifically to do that. With an average of five glasses per bottle of wine and a possible four drinks each this will give you a rough guideline of what to buy.

Add a few extra to your total as you know at this time of year they won't go to waste. Plenty of good drink bargains are to be had at this time of year so it may pay to shop round. The easiest way to handle the drink situation is to limit the choices to white or red wine.

However, if you know no fear and want to go a little more sophisticated, why not look at offers on Prosecco or Cava. Both these wines are manufactured the same way as Champagne and both tend to be a lot more affordable. Be aware that, as in everything, not all wines are equal so it may pay to just buy a bottle and try it out first (call it research!)

Don't forget the drivers and non drinkers and have plenty of mineral water, fruit juices and lemonade handy.

If your party is large one, be aware that most wine shops will be able to loan some glasses. However again at this time of year this is a service that is very much made easy . . .

in demand and it will pay for you to be organised and book this service in time!

Food can be a headache too. If you are not happy serving a bowl of nuts and a few crisps, there are plenty of options.

Pigs in blankets (chipolatas wrapped in bacon) and smoked salmon blinis are especially popular. If you are short of time, consider buying some ready roll puff pastry and top it with garlic soft cheese, tomato salsa and basil.

Some french bread (the thin baguettes are best) cut in small slices and topped with camembert and a little chutney or a slice of saucisson (variety of thick, dry cured sausage that originates in France) and a small gherkin are other possibilities.

Keep the canapes small and bite size otherwise you could be in for a nasty surprise when your guests leave and your carpet looks as though it has been the scene of a battle! Finally ensure you have lots of paper napkins for greasy hands and the odd spill or two.

If you think people may stay on and linger, make sure that everyone knows at what time the party is supposed to finish.

Either state it on the invitation or better still have a party before you move to a theatre or restaurant. The pre-dinner drink party is a super way of not holding court 'til three in the morning!

Another way is to pre-book taxis for your guests as at this time of the year cabs can be difficult to get. Hopefully as people see others leave they will take the hint and go too!

Watching the Purse Strings

Bah! Humbug! That is what you may feel if you are on a budget at Christmas but although it is deeply ingrained that only the 'best' can do for anyone during the festive season, actually it is completely silly to go and overspend with what you don't have at any time of the year.

Here are a few tips that anyone may benefit from. Some of these are simply logical statements but it Is easy to forget logic at Christmas time!

1 Christmas is just one day a year. Yeah, that needs reminding doesn't it? The more you spend, the higher your expectations and generally the bigger the fall too.

It really is not worthwhile making yourself sick over one day. Everyone loves Christmas but it can sometimes lead to sheer exhaustion and a depressed state. Give yourself a reality check.

2 Small children do not have brand awareness. A simple toy for a five year old can be much more exciting than an iPad! Remember the joy of Christmas is the memory of it, the coziness and the love around you. That starts early in anyone's life and it is never down to materialistic gifts.

3 If you cannot afford the best turkey in the shop don't despair. Shopping for your bird at a local butcher may be very good news. Most people believe supermarkets to be better priced but that is far from the truth very often.

Go and discuss some options with your butcher. You may be very surprised.

4 Too many gifts to buy. Do you buy for someone you rarely or never see during the year? Some kind of old habit, and they do the same? If that is the case how about having a chat and whittling down your list. They will be as relieved as you are probably and this will mean some real savings.

5 Budget means organisation. There is no getting away from this one. If you work from a list you will find that you will not have huge (and bad) surprises. You will need lists with budgets. Presents and who to buy for. Food and what you will be serving and how many people. Knowing what you need to spend your money on and allocating a budget to items is the way forward.

6 Shop early. When you go to town or during your lunch hour, grab a couple of items each day from your lists.

You won't really feel the pinch as much and pretty soon you will be ready in advance, What's not to like?

7 Cut costs down on non-essentials. A cracker is a cracker. Most times, children will pull them anyway so does it matter that the gifts are plastic frogs and dice as opposed to silver plated bottle openers? That could be a difference of £15 on just one item! As for fancy paper napkins, what's wrong with plain white? You get the drift...

8 Booze specials. As in tip 6, shop early. Beer and wine keeps just as well in your garage than in the store's warehouse. Grab the offers and stock up ahead. Just keep away from it though!

These are all small steps but adopting them will mean a much easier on the wallet Christmas. You may also find that it is a frame of mind and once you buy into saving whenever you can you will simply continue to do so.
